Announcements ChaoticLu Apr 1, 2023

Hello Xbox Ambassadors and welcome to Season 30, the season of “The Companion”! The Companion is that special Player 2 you can share adventures and experiences with. One cool thing about gaming is the ability to bond without having to see the person outside the gaming world. We are excited to share with you a look forward to what’s coming in the first 30 days of the Season!

Announcing the New Xbox Ambassador Research Panel!

We know that many of you enjoy helping shape our products and take pride in the impact your feedback can make, so we have partnered with the Microsoft User Research platform to create an unique research panel that is only for Xbox Ambassadors!

That means more opportunities to bring your voice into Xbox products and services. In return, each activity will reward you with Xbox Ambassador Program XP and, if you join by May 5th, you will unlock 1000 XP and the chance to win one of three Xbox Wireless Controllers signed by Phil Spencer. Invitations to join are currently being sent out to Ambassadors in waves.

While joining the panel is optional, it is also the only way to participate in the NEW exciting and confidential Ambassador Community Calls and Surveys with our partner teams at Xbox.

The process works like this: you will be invited to the Microsoft User Research Platform via e-mail, where you can then join the Xbox Ambassadors Research panel. After joining, you’ll be served some initial panel questions to help us determine which of our upcoming conversations would be most relevant to you.

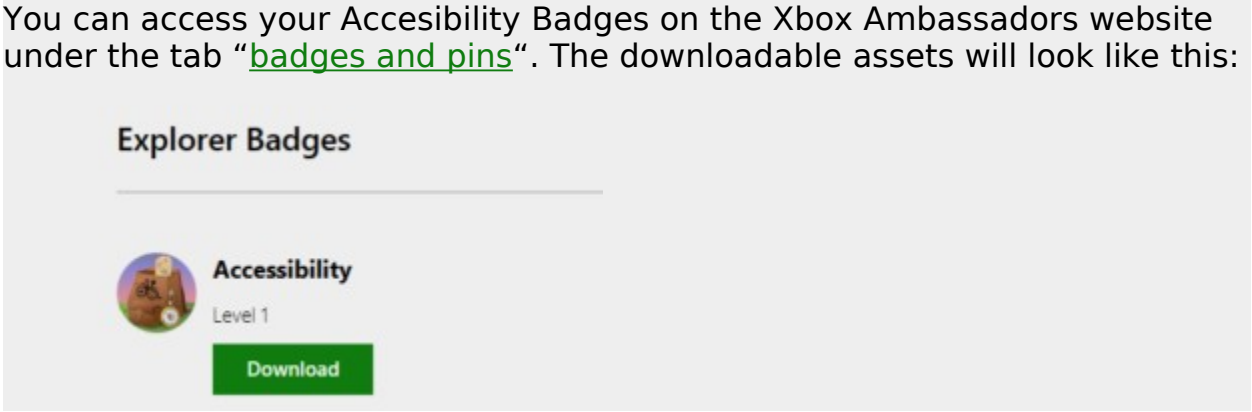
If you haven’t received an invitation yet, don’t worry! We will be rolling out invites out to you all in waves between now and the end of April 2023. To learn more, check out this FAQ in the Handbook: and watch for email invitations between now and then.

The Xbox Ambassadors Accessibility Explorer Path

Last October, we introduced the Accessibility Explorer Path, designed to teach Xbox Ambassadors all about Accessibility. We are happy to inform you we have 857,853 as of today’s mission completions from the Accessibility Explorer Path, and just 467,153 for past Season 29! Thank you to everyone who has been joining the path in an effort of making gaming fun for everyone.

As a reminder, we are rewarding Ambassadors on the Accessibility path. In addition to unlocking XP, the more Accessibility Missions you complete, the more your Accessibility Explorer badge will evolve in your Xbox Ambassador profile.

Global Accessibility Awareness Day as well will take place May 18th and are trying to reach 1 million Mission Completions for our Accessibility Explorer Path.

We are also adding a brand-new feature where you can download the badges you have currently earned to use on any social media and your Xbox Account, show us on the Xbox Ambassadors Discord Server how your account looks with them!


You can access your Accesibility Badges on the Xbox Ambassadors website under the tab “badges and pins“. The downloadable assets will look like this:
